

Call for Papers for a Cityscape Symposium on Intersections of Housing & Child/Youth Well-being

Submission deadline: 2/28/2013

Examples of topics of interest include:

- frameworks for how to understand the impacts of housing, housing policy or neighborhood conditions on child or youth outcomes
- program or policy research seeking to understand the impact of HUD programs or housing policy on children or youth, or seeking to understand the impacts of child/family policy on housing or neighborhood choice or circumstances
- the interactions between housing and neighborhood conditions and systems and other child/youth/family serving systems (e.g., the child welfare system, the juvenile justice system, the public health system, etc).

Papers may be theoretical or empirical and must be original work not published elsewhere. To be considered for publication in this Cityscape Symposium, papers must be submitted by February 28, 2013. All submitted papers will be peer reviewed.

We are very interested in learning about work in this area that could make a contribution to this symposium. We are also interested in reaching out to early career scholars, e.g., graduate students, postdoctoral fellows and junior researchers and academics. Please send us an email indicating your interest in submitting a paper, including a short abstract describing the work and its timeline, and/or recommend colleagues who are doing work in this area that we should contact. We will follow up with researchers whose work fits criteria of topic, quality and timing to invite submission of papers for review.

In addition to seeking papers, we are seeking peer reviewers. Please also let us know if you would be interested in being a peer reviewer for this Cityscape Symposium.

Direct inquiries to Elizabeth Rudd at Elizabeth.C.Rudd@hud.gov and/or to Molly Irwin at Molly.Irwin@acf.hhs.gov .
