Wednesday, December 10

8:30-9:00 Continental Breakfast

9:00-9:30 Introductions and Goals of the Conference: Narayan Sastry

9:30-10:00 Overview of Key Features of the PSID: Bob Schoeni

10:00-10:40 Metabolic System: Noreen Goldman and Jennifer Dowd

10:40-11:00 Discussion

11:00-11:15 Break

11:15-11:55 Genetics: Jeffrey Long and Dalton Conley

11:55-12:15 Discussion

12:15-1:00 Lunch

1:00-1:40 Stress and Mental Health: David Almeida and Kate McGonagle

1:40-2:00 Discussion

2:00-2:40 Obesity: John Cawley and Richard Burkhauser

2:40-3:00 Discussion

3:00-3:15 Break

3:15-3:55 Respiratory System: Edith Chen and Jean Yeung

3:55-4:15 Discussion

4:15-4:30 Day 1 Wrap-Up and General Discussion

7:00 Dinner
Thursday, December 11

8:00-8:30  Continental Breakfast

8:30-9:10  Stress and Physical Health: Allison Aiello, George Kaplan, & Elizabeth Young

9:10-9:30  Discussion

9:30-10:10  Infectious Disease: Thom McDade and Mark Hayward

10:10-10:30  Discussion

10:30-10:45  Break

10:45-11:25  Legal and Ethical Issues: Hank Greely

11:25-11:45  Discussion

11:45-12:00  Break to get lunch

12:00-1:00  Lunch, with presentation by John Hobcraft, University of York, on parallels between collecting biomeasures in the PSID and in other international panel surveys

1:00-1:15  Break

1:15-3:00  Panel Discussion. Moderator: Bob Schoeni
Questions proposed to panelists:
- Why shouldn’t PSID collect biomeasures?
- Why should PSID collect biomeasures?
- If biomeasures should be collected, which ones and why?
Panelists: Suzanne Bianchi, Robert Moffitt, Jim Smith, Bob Wallace

3:00-3:30  Final remarks and next steps